

LITTLE BAY CAMP

FAIRHAVEN
MASS.

1920—1921

LITTLE BAY CAMP FOR GIRLS

Camp Directors

MR. AND MRS. P. C. HEADLEY, JR.

Camp Mistress

MRS. HELEN TREAT MCALLISTER

FAIRHAVEN, MASSACHUSETTS

A COMMANDING LOCATION

LITTLE BAY CAMP overlooks two bays, which reach out into Buzzard's Bay, and that in turn stretches for twenty miles from the Cape Cod Canal to Cuttyhunk, with an opening midway to Wood's Hole, and thence to Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket. Inviting nooks indent the coast line, disclosing the snug harbors of Mattapoisett, Marion, Wareham, Cape Cod Canal, and the Falmouths, with most attractive summer homes adding their charm and picturesqueness. The main highway, starting from New Bedford, crosses the mile bridge to Fairhaven, and on down the Cape, and is the center of a network of wonderful roads, which radiate to fascinating little towns all along either shore, on both sides of the Cape, down to the quaint village of Provincetown. Sagamore Beach, Sandwich, the Barnstables and Yarmouths,

Orleans, and Chatham all fall in line. New Bedford, a scant four miles away across the harbor, is a focal point to Nonquit, Westport Harbor, Seaconet Point, Newport, and Narragansett Pier. Steamers leave daily for Cottage City, Edgartown and Nantucket, and there are frequent excursions to Gay Head and Cuttyhunk. Hidden from the main thoroughfare by a stretch of thick woods, the camp nestles in a quiet little bay, as secluded as in Maine, and as central as a suburb, near the second largest textile city in the United States, with 120,000 population. This city is noted for its whaling industry over 100 years ago. Parks, public buildings, and a museum filled with relics from the islands of the sea, and old curiosity shops, wharves, hospitals and up to date sanitation, and its beautiful residential section, on the high levels overlooking the vast expanse of bay, enhance its interest.

Fairhaven is a beautifully shaded village on this side of the harbor, enriched by nearly four million dollar's worth of wonderful buildings, including a palatial high school, library, town hall, and memorial church, and the attractive Tabitha Inn, all the gifts of the late Henry H. Rogers of New York. Every breeze that blows, save those from the north, come from over the bay, and even they breathe of the pine lands. This is the home of the early pioneer, and colonial Plymouth is within easy reach by motor, as well as the haunts of King Philip, and the scenes of the early Indian encounters. Land and water combine to give Little Bay Camp a location which furnishes privacy, diversion, information, and accessibility. All the charms of remoteness and the simple life are supplemented by nearness to every modern convenience, and the hum of the busy world—just over there.

THROUGH THE PRIVATE DRIVEWAY TO CAMP.

OUTSIDE VIEW OF THE BUILDING.

THE BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

The approach to the camp is through a half-mile wood's road on the Headley estate, and the imposing building looms up before you as you approach from the bridle path. It is all under one sweeping roof, with a floor space of 55 by 87 feet. The large living room and assembly hall is 42 feet long, with a huge field stone fireplace. The library adjoins this room. This large floor space gives plenty of opportunity for ample indoor life. The French doors open on all sides, and unify the plan.

The second floor galleries overlook the assembly room below, as well as giving a cosy atmosphere to the whole building. In other words, the camp is like a huge chalet, just built for sea breezes, with an outlook over the bays from every side, as well as an interior construction suited for a big, happy family. Verandas encircle the building, the one in front being 15 feet deep, and the one on the south 19 feet in depth, overlooking Buzzard's Bay and the Falmouth shore, and the shipping to and from the canal.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

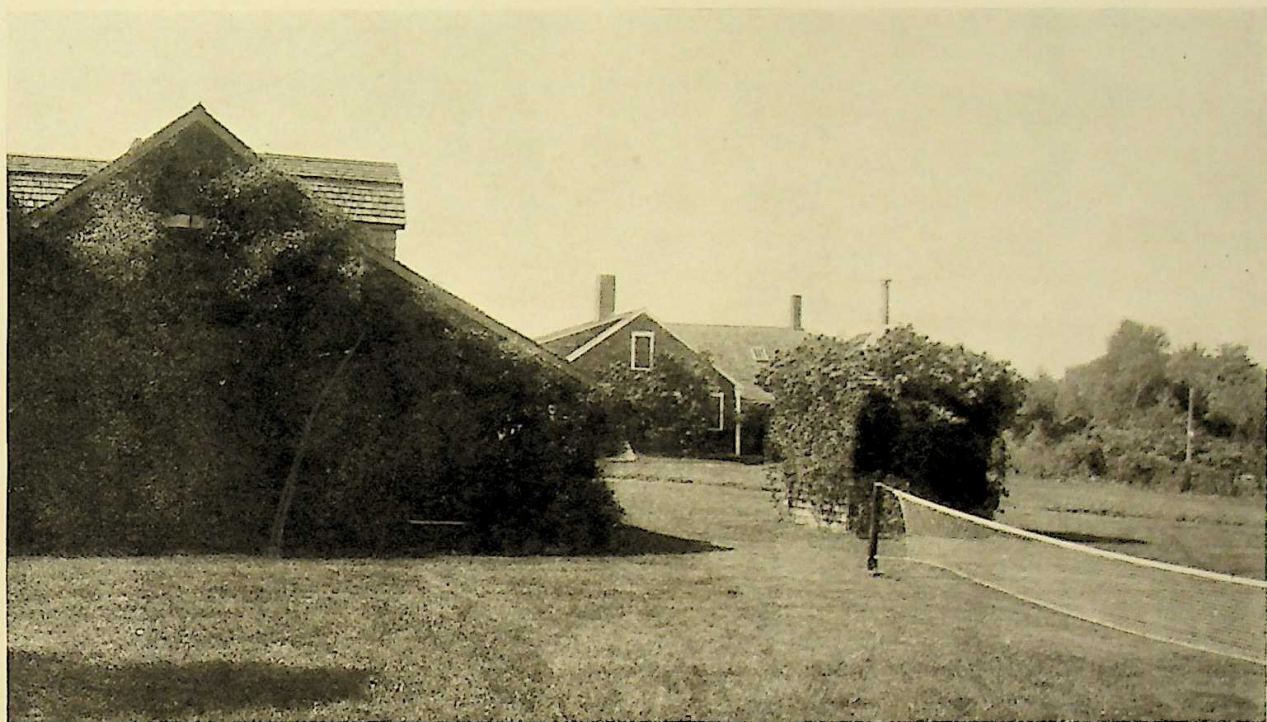

On a nearby knoll, we are erecting a portable for silversmithing, nature classes, games, etc. The situation is beautiful, and affords a pleasant change from the main building.

FOR OUR GUESTS—THE BUNGALOW

This is a capacious, artistic summer bungalow; with a piazza 50 feet long, two open fireplaces, and all modern conveniences of sanitation and lighting, and will be kept open for guests and parents, thus avoiding distance to hotels. Cars and supplies can be attended to on the place.

THE BUNGALOW GUEST HOUSE.

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE PRIVATE ROAD.

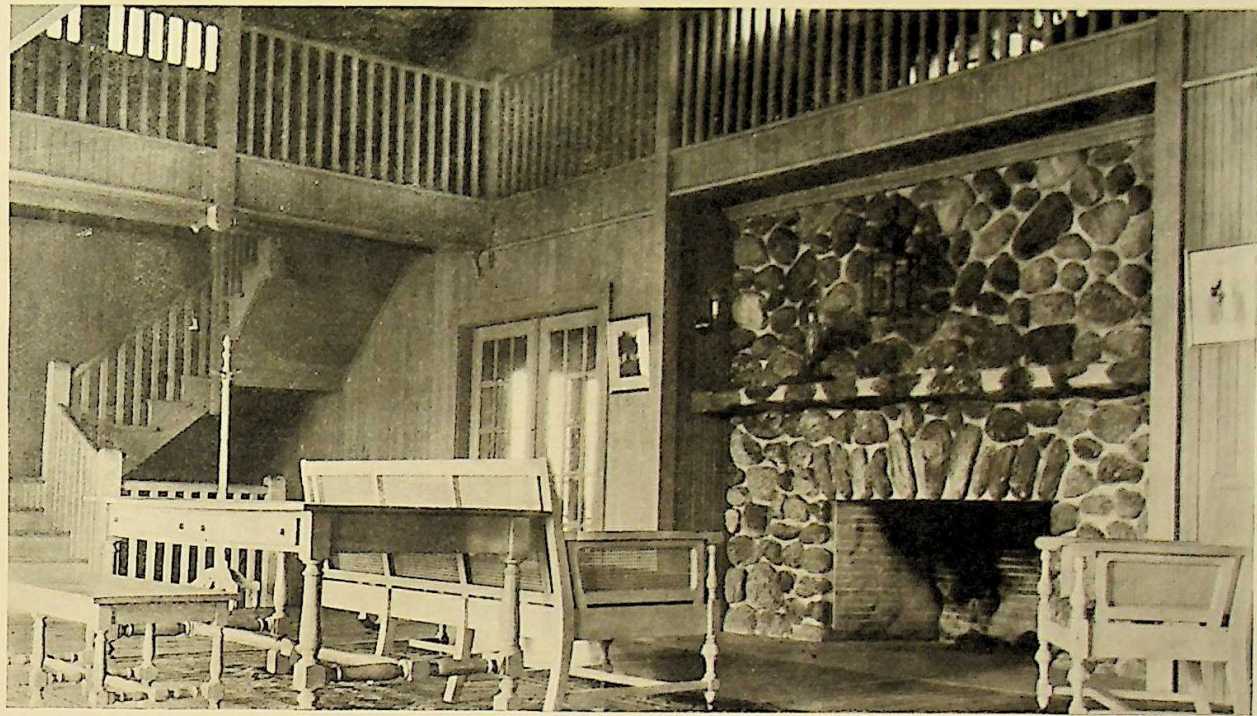

OUT FOR A CANTER.

PHYSICAL WELFARE AND HEALTH

All camp life is subservient to the girls' health and happiness, as routine and exercise fail of their purpose when made too prominent. Each camper will be examined on arrival and at departure, by the physical director. Nourishing food, and plenty of it at the proper times is most essential, and will be provided. A driven well, 100 feet deep, furnishes the best of water, free from all impurities. Modern plumbing, shower baths, electric lights, and telephone make camp life less exposed and far more comfortable and safe for young girls at a time when the foundations of health are laid. Clams, quahogs, fish, and lobsters are found here in their native waters, while vegetables, chickens, eggs and milk come from our farm, which is conducted on absolutely sanitary principles. The best of wholesome cooking is provided, and the outer life gives the girls a vigorous and normal appetite.

We are fortunate in having an able Boston physician, resident on the place, who will be in charge of medical matters.

LIVING ROOM.

CORNER OF THE DINING HALL

FOLLY, THE CAMP MASCOT.

SPORTS—LAND AND WATER

LAND SPORTS

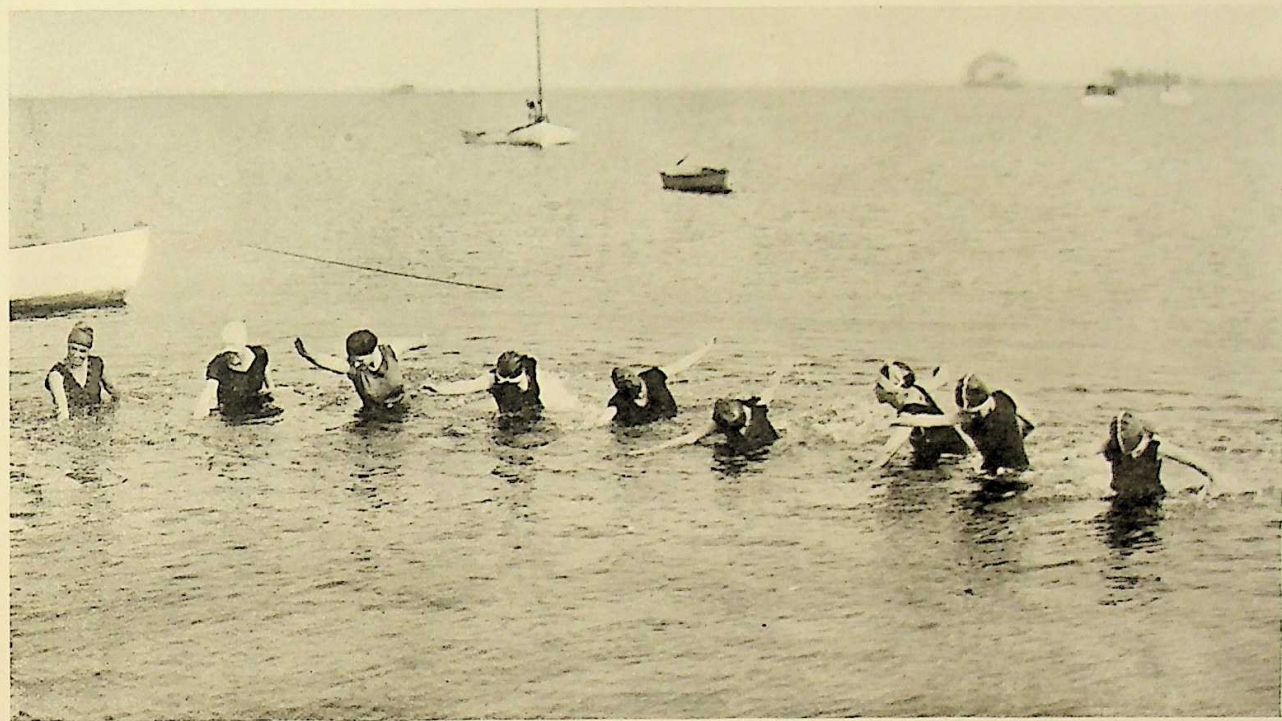

Probably the most attractive of all the sports on land is horseback riding, and we are especially well equipped in this line, having added to our stables this past winter. The riding master is the best, and takes great pains with his pupils, to give them a thorough training in horsemanship. He is extremely cautious about allowing any girl to escape his immediate supervision, and takes no chances of overestimating their knowledge. The horses, too, are of the best, well broken and gentle. Little Folly, the Shetland thoroughbred, completes our string, and will be the joy of the children, both for riding and driving. Besides the two tennis courts directly outside of the building, there is a grass court on the main estate. Archery, base ball and basket ball each have their place under able leadership and teachers. The Headley estate has over 150 acres, including a beautiful bridle path.

WATER SPORTS

Little Bay Camp is really a seashore resort, and admirably located for water sports, because it faces two bays. The inner one is the quietest of waters, and affords safe and suitable opportunity for swimming, canoeing and sailing. Beside the canoes and rowboats, there is a 20 ft. cat boat, the "Squall," used for teaching the girls how to sail. It has a 9 ft. beam, and is an able boat, just suited for a crowd of jolly girls, always under the guidance of a competent counsellor. The camp has one or two able skippers, including Captain Davis of last year, who know the fishing grounds, and delightful trips around the bay, as well as the camping spot at West Island, three miles distant. No camper is allowed to have any responsibility, or to take any chances alone unless proven competent, and within oversight.

A SWIMMING LESSON.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTOR WITH A CLASS OF BEGINNERS.

THE CAMP GROUP, AFTER AN ENJOYABLE PICNIC.

OUR FLEET

The fleet consists of the captain's sloop, the "Empress", the "Wapiti", a 39 ft. yawl, the "Comfort", a 33 ft. covered motor launch, with saloon and sleeping accommodations, the "Margery," a clever cabin cruiser race-about, and three small power boats, the "Baby", the "Skip", and the "Flatfoot". In addition, there are several rowboats and canoes. In fact, everybody can go to sea at once, and have room for all their friends twice over, for we believe sailing and water trips are conducive to good appetites and ruddy cheeks and sound lungs.

TRIPS

It is the custom on Sunday afternoon, after service, to take a short water trip, to some adjacent island, have supper, and return by moonlight.

There are a few longer camping trips, planned during the summer, which are purely optional, and for which there is a charge.

TO THE CAMP

From New York to Boston to New Bedford via N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R.

From New York to New Bedford by Boat, or New York to Fall River by Boat.

From New York to Providence to Taunton to New Bedford via N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R.

P. O. address, Fairhaven, Massachusetts. Visitors met at New Bedford.

Adams Express to Fairhaven, Massachusetts. Long Distance Telephone, Camp No. 4610, Headley Estate, New Bedford, 3060.

A FEW OF OUR BOATS.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

We are very fortunate in having as instructress on the piano, Mrs. Helen Treat McAllister, a teacher and concert pianist of wide experience, and for two years a personal pupil of Edward McDowell. Music in all forms is encouraged, and eagerly sought by the children. The toy orchestra of fifteen or sixteen girls was one of the most enjoyable features last year in the way of indoor entertainment. The Glee Club, too, is a permanent institution, and the talent thus secured availed much in the play at the close of the camp season. There is opportunity for fancy dancing and entertainments incident to camp life. Whether it be water pageant or folk dance, at such times the counsellors lend a hand, and all work together for a grand good time.

NATURE CLASSES AND SILVERSMITHING

The nature classes are in the care of Miss Van Pelt of New York, an artist of considerable reputation and ability, and especially adapted to young people, and capable of interesting them and drawing out the best that is in them.

Silversmithing is in the charge of Miss Sisson, and the excellent work done in rings, pins and other trinkets last year was sufficient evidence of her skill and ability to impart the same to them.

There will also be classes in weaving and basketry. Campers will be helped to make the summer instructive as well as enjoyable.

THE TOY ORCHESTRA.

TUTORING AND INSTRUCTION

Tutoring in all Secondary School Subjects can be secured under competent Counsellors, also instruction in Piano, including supervision of daily practice, under Mrs. Helen McAllister. Rates can be given upon application.

GALA WEEK

The closing week of camp is given over to a sort of reunion, and contests of the various sports and interests which have filled the previous seven weeks. During this week, exhibitions and specimens of the work are shown to the parents and friends in the various crafts. The water sports, tennis tournament, and riding exhibition all come into these last few days, which close with a little operatta and dance, to which the girl campers invite their friends.

EXPENSES

The charge for the Season is $300. A payment of $25.00 is required on application for membership, $150 on July 1st, and the balance August 1st. The tuition covers instruction in all the occupations and sports, including riding. No reduction is made for early leaving or late entry. Girls are allowed a small amount of spending money each week. A deposit of $20.00 is suggested, from which the girls may draw for petty expenses by check—giving an opportunity for banking methods.

CALENDER—1920

Camp opens July 1st, closes August 31st.

VIEW FROM PIER

CAMP SCHEDULE

7.15—Reveille	12.30—Dinner
7.20—Setting up drill	1.30—Rest hour
7.45—Shower bath	2.30—Classes in riding, silversmithing, etc.
8.15—Breakfast	4.30—Sailing and paddling
9.15—Camp duties and inspection	6.00—Supper
10.00—Classes in tennis and archery	7.00—Glee club or orchestra
11.30—Swimming	9.00—Taps.

CAMP COSTUME

The Camp Colors are gray and red.

The red “crimson.”

The gray “battleship gray.”

Uniforms are required, and consist of gray bloomers, white middie and red tie.

These are to be purchased outside of camp.

THE UNIFORM

1 Hat	4 Gray Bloomers
1 Heavy gray Sweater	1 Navy blue serge Bloomer
6 Pairs gray socks or stockings	2 Bathing Suits
6 Plain white Middy Blouses	2 Red ties, at least, to be worn with Middies

CAMP OUTFITTING

2 Rubber Ponchos	1 Top Coat
3 White Skirts (plain)	2 Laundry bags
1 Light Dress	Bath wrapper and Bed Shoes
4 Vests and 4 Combinations	Pair Stout Walking Shoes
1 Pair Rubbers	Tennis Racquet and balls
1 Raincoat	Musical instruments of any kind
1 Duffer Bag	Puttees or riding boots
1 Pair Rubber Boots	Tennis Shoes
	Sneakers

TO BE SENT AHEAD IN DUFFER BAG

2 Warm Blankets	6 Bath Towels	1 Steamer Rug
4 Single Sheets	4 Pillow Cases	3 Wash Cloths

Steamer trunk must be used. No storage room for larger trunks. Only single new sheets.
All articles plainly marked ; must be red woven letters.

MEDICAL STAFF

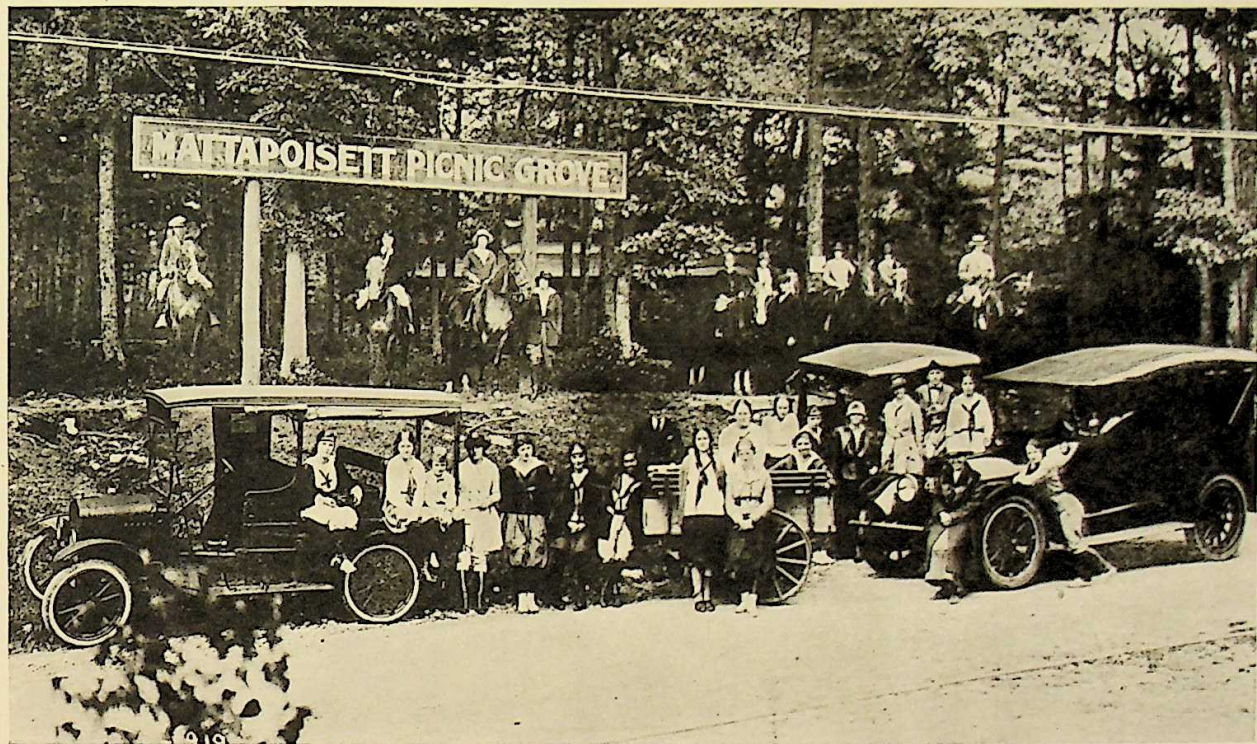

Dr. E. L. Twombly, Resident Camp Physician

Dr. E. P. Seaver, Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat

Dr. E. T. Waters, Dentist

FOR INFORMATION

For information and circulars address Mrs. Fairhaven, Mass. Arrangements are also made P. C. Headley, Jr., Fairhaven, Mass. If a personal for meeting Campers on June 30th at New York interview is desired, it can be arranged by writing and Boston. August 31st the girls can be returned Mrs. Helen McAllister, care P. C. Headley, Jr., to same points, if desired.

RETURNING FROM A RIDING AND DRIVING TRIP.

SHOWING LOCATION OF CAMP

REFERENCES

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Washburn, 119 East 31st Street, New York City.

Miss Mabel Elsworth Todd, "The Hamilton," Cor. Commonwealth Avenue and Clarendon Street, Boston, Mass.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Twombly, 416 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.

Miss Elizabeth M. Coburn, Principal Grosse Pointe School, Detroit, Michigan.

Prof. and Mrs. Charles M. Allen, 226 Willoughby Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

Mr. Eugene Heffley, 708 Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Mrs. F. A. Stokes, 200 West 58th Street, New York City.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Reason, 165 Rahway Avenue, Carteret, New Jersey.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Kern, 713 Kossuth Street, Lafayette, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephenson, 409 Hillside Place, South Orange, New Jersey.

GILBERT T. WASHBURN & CO.
IRVING PRESS
605 FIFTH AVENUE, N. Y.

